misuse of classified documents to the FBI Director earlier in January 2016, but when he called to confirm receipt he could not do so and therefore wanted to walk-in to make sure the information was received by the right people at the FBI, specifically the "task force" working on the Clinton e-mail scandal.

[redacted] explained he was a long-time government employee and had previously worked for many years at the Department of State. He provided a resume and a U.S. Foreign Service Employee Evaluation Report to prove his bonafides.

b6
b7C

[redacted] did not go in to detail as to what the evidence was as he had provided other typed documents explaining the evidence to the unclassified level he could. He offered to be interviewed in a SCIF so he could talk at a higher classification level to further explain other evidence he had.

b6

All of the documents provided by [redacted] are being attached in a 1A for further review by the appropriate personnel reviewing this matter.

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-6275

May 17, 2016

VIA ELECTRONIC TRANSMISSION

The Honorable James B. Comey, Jr.
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
935 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, DC 20535

Dear Director Comey:

I am writing in regard to the FBI's ongoing investigation relating to Secretary Clinton's use of a non-government server and email address for her official State Department business. In particular, I am writing to raise concerns about the appearance of a conflict of interest by Justice Department officials and to seek your input about possible remedies. To state the obvious, it is a rare occurrence to have an administration's former cabinet official being investigated under the authority of that very same administration. The circumstances are further complicated by the fact that the investigation is underway during a presidential election year in which Secretary Clinton is her party's frontrunner. Moreover, the President and his press secretary have made statements that seemed to prejudge the scope and outcome of the FBI's ongoing investigation. Taken together, these circumstances reasonably raise the serious appearance of a conflict of interest. This is not just an academic concern, as it appears the Justice Department may be trying to keep the scope of the FBI's investigation unreasonably narrow, according to press reports.

While career FBI and Justice Department attorneys may be involved in the investigation, political appointees at the Justice Department, including the Attorney General herself,<sup>1</sup> will make the ultimate determination whether or not to prosecute Secretary Clinton and her associates. Even if these appointees are acting with the utmost integrity and professionalism, at the very minimum, the appearance of a conflict clearly exists. Indeed, there appear to be at least three areas of conflict here.

<sup>1</sup> At a recent hearing before the House Appropriations Committee, Congressman John Carter asked the Attorney General if she would authorize prosecution if the FBI makes the case that Secretary Clinton broke the law. In response, Attorney General Lynch testified that the FBI and Justice Department personnel involved in the investigation "will make a recommendation to me when the time is appropriate" and refused to answer whether she would authorize prosecution if that is the FBI's recommendation. The F.Y. 2017 Budget for the Dep't of Justice: Hearing Before the House Committee on Appropriations, Subcommittee on Commerce, Justice, Science, and Related Agencies, 114th Cong. (2016).

First, because the Justice Department officials who will make the decision are political appointees, their prospects for continuing employment at the Department are likely tied to whether Secretary Clinton or another Democrat is elected President in the fall. It is understandable that the public might believe there is a conflict of interest when it appears that the political appointees making the decision would harm their own employment prospects if they moved forward with a prosecution, should the investigation find one warranted.

Second, the President and his press secretary have made public statements that seem to suggest the President's preferred outcome in this investigation by downplaying the seriousness of the underlying facts. The President has since claimed he is not exerting political influence on the decision whether or not to initiate a prosecution because he does not talk to the Attorney General about pending investigations.<sup>2</sup> But this misses the point. It is not necessary for the President to exert political influence through private, one-on-one conversations; the public statements by the President and his press secretary undoubtedly also reached his Justice Department appointees and broadcast his preferences to them. Accordingly, in doing so he may have put additional pressure on his political appointees to refuse to approve indictments or at least to narrow the scope of the investigation. If the political appointees' boss, the President, has already publicly asserted that Secretary Clinton merely acted with "carelessness" and that her actions did not threaten national security, how can his political appointees contradict him if the investigation finds otherwise?

Third, Attorney General Lynch has additional professional associations with the Clintons that underscore the appearance of a conflict. Former President Bill Clinton appointed her to be the U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of New York. In between serving as the U.S. Attorney under President Clinton and returning to the position under President Obama, she was a partner at a law firm that represented both President and Secretary Clinton. Once again, even if the Attorney General is acting in good faith, there is at least an appearance of a conflict of interest.

In short, there are legitimate reasons why the public would question whether a potential conflict of interest could affect the Justice Department's decision whether to pursue one or more prosecutions in this matter. Moreover, the current process for making these decisions lacks any meaningful transparency, scrutiny, or accountability. Especially in this unique circumstance, it is vitally important that the public have confidence in the outcome of the investigation, whatever it may be.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Wallace Presses Obama: How Can You Say Hillary Didn't Jeopardize Nat'l Security?, FOX NEWS INSIDER, Apr. 10, 2016.

<sup>3</sup> Even journalists who are sympathetic to Secretary Clinton have noted this. See Ruth Marcus, Why a No-Indictment for Hillary Clinton Would Still Be a Problem for America, THE WASHINGTON POST, Mar. 29, 2016. (stating: "It bears some thinking at the top levels of the Justice Department and the FBI about whether there is some way to mitigate the suspicion [that political meddling will squelch an indictment] by making more information public than is the norm," as well as noting: "There's no indication that Justice has contemplated [appointing a special counsel].")

The Justice Department has a mechanism in place to deal with such conflicts, namely, appointing a Special Counsel from outside of the Department, but the Attorney General has not exercised it. The Special Counsel regulations are supposed to help ensure fair and impartial investigations in the face of conflicts, although the use of a Special Counsel can present its own issues. According to the regulations:

The Attorney General, or in cases in which the Attorney General is recused, the Acting Attorney General, will appoint a Special Counsel when he or she determines that criminal investigation of a person or matter is warranted and-

- (a) That investigation or prosecution of that person or matter by a United States Attorney's Office or litigating Division of the Department of Justice would present a conflict of interest for the Department or other extraordinary circumstances; and
- (b) That under the circumstances, it would be in the public interest to appoint an outside Special Counsel to assume responsibility for the matter.<sup>4</sup>

According to the regulations, there are three conditions for appointing a Special Counsel: 1) the Attorney General decides an investigation is warranted; 2) the Justice Department has a conflict of interest or there are other extraordinary circumstances; and 3) the public interest is served. Based upon the available facts and circumstances, all of those conditions appear to have been met here.

This is not just an academic issue about conflicts of interest; it is possible that the Justice Department might be failing to provide the FBI with all the resources it needs for this investigation and might be improperly limiting the investigation's scope. You recently testified before Congress that you are "very close personally to that investigation to ensure that [the FBI has] all the resources [it] need[s], including people and technology."<sup>5</sup> But, to the best of my knowledge, the Justice Department has made no similar commitment. The Department refused for months to confirm to the Committee that an investigation was underway at all, and it still refuses officially to confirm the scope of the investigation or whether it has provided the necessary Department resources for the FBI to properly address all the relevant legal issues.

Information in the public domain raises serious questions about whether the Department has done so. For example, it is unclear whether the Justice Department has empaneled a federal grand jury in order to issue subpoenas, so that the FBI can gather all of the relevant information. As a recent article in the Washington Post noted, "there is no indication that prosecutors have convened a grand jury in the email investigation to subpoena testimony or documents[.]”<sup>6</sup> Given the public reports of the resources and time being devoted to the investigation by the FBI, this appears highly unusual.

Moreover, Attorney General Lynch’s public statements seem to imply that the investigation is being limited to an extremely narrow scope, as she only acknowledges that the investigation is evaluating the issues relating to Secretary Clinton’s and her subordinates’ potential mishandling of classified information.<sup>7</sup> In a recent interview, Attorney General Lynch described the investigation as follows: “We’re looking at whether or not classified information was handled in a particular way, in an appropriate way.”<sup>8</sup> At her recent appearance before the Committee, Senator Thom Tillis asked if the Justice Department had analyzed issues surrounding the joint income President and Secretary Clinton received from foreign governments for speeches President Clinton made, an issue raised by some of the released emails. One of the Clintons’ joint tax returns implicated in this and related public corruption issues was prepared by the law firm of Hogan & Hartson while the Attorney General was a partner at the firm.<sup>9</sup> In response, the Attorney General seemed unaware of the Constitutional issue raised by Senator Tillis and testified that “the matter that has been under discussion both in this and other proceedings has been the Department’s review of how the State Department handled classified information.”<sup>10</sup> A recent news report also included the assertion by anonymous “U.S. officials” that the investigation is solely focused on the handling of classified information and has not included any other legal issues stemming from the server arrangement or information revealed from the retrieved emails.<sup>11 12</sup>

<sup>12</sup> If accurate, this statement by a U.S. official about the full scope of the investigation is additionally troubling in light of the fact that an FBI official recently filed a sworn declaration in a FOIA case regarding records relating to the investigation stating that “[b]eyond Director Comey’s acknowledgment of the security referral from the Inspectors General of the Intelligence Community and the Department of State, the FBI has not and cannot publicly acknowledge the specific scope, focus, or potential targets of any such investigation without adversely affecting the investigation.” See Decl. of David M. Hardy, Leopold v. Dep’t of Justice, 15-cv-2117 (DDC), ECF No. 9-1 at 7. In that lawsuit, the FBI official declared under penalty of perjury that the FBI was withholding materials it had recovered from the server, and other records relating to the investigation, because they are exempt under FOIA Exemption 7(A). He stated that those records and other FBI records relating to the investigation were “compiled for law enforcement purposes” and that their disclosure could reasonably be expected to interfere with “a pending or prospective law enforcement proceeding” – Exemption 7(A)’s prerequisites. Id. at 7-10. He similarly stated that the records “are potential evidence in the FBI’s investigation,” that disclosing “evidence [or] potential evidence [] while the investigation is active [] could undermine the pending investigation by prematurely

Perhaps the most troubling report is the Washington Post's recent article about the FBI's interview of Cheryl Mills.<sup>13</sup> That article stated that Justice Department officials had made an agreement with Ms. Mills' attorney that it "would be off limits" for the FBI to ask her questions during the interview about her role in deciding which of the emails on Secretary Clinton's server would be deleted and which would be turned over to the State Department.<sup>14</sup> The article further stated that the FBI agents nonetheless asked about this important issue, that Ms. Mills walked out of the interview briefly in response, and that the Justice Department prosecutors were "taken aback that their FBI colleagues" had asked the question.<sup>15</sup> Ms. Mills reportedly never answered the FBI's questions on this issue.<sup>16</sup>

Secretary Clinton's potential mishandling of classified information is undoubtedly important and must be fully investigated. However, it would be disturbing if the Justice Department has narrowed the investigation to prevent the FBI from also investigating the other important issues raised by this extraordinary situation. For example, press reports have indicated that the FBI has been able to recover emails deleted from Secretary Clinton's private server.<sup>17</sup> If federal records on the private server were hidden or destroyed, then there may have been a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 2071, which prohibits concealing or destroying such federal records. If any of the deleted emails were responsive to Congressional inquiries or to agency inquiries, such as ones from the State Department Inspector General, then there may have been violations of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1505 and 1519, respectively. Similarly, the content of many of the released emails implicates Constitutional issues and public corruption laws by raising issues relating to joint income from paid speeches given by President Clinton for foreign government entities, as well as the blurring of the lines between the actions taken on behalf of the State Department, the Clinton Foundation, and Teneo, a private firm founded by a former counselor to President Clinton.

Despite this range of relevant legal issues, which extend far beyond the national security issues raised by the potential mishandling of classified information, public reports only indicate that the Justice Department has assigned personnel from its National Security Division to supervise the FBI's investigation,<sup>18</sup> with another report claiming the U.S. Attorney's Office from the Eastern District of Virginia is also involved.<sup>19</sup> There is no indication that the Justice Department has assigned prosecutors from its Public Integrity Section or prosecutors with expertise in the unlawful concealment or deletion revealing its scope and focus, [and that] if individuals become aware of the scope and focus of [the] investigation, they can take defensive actions to conceal their activities, elude detection, and/or suppress evidence." Id. at 9-10 (emphasis added).

of federal records. Indeed, when Attorney General Lynch was specifically asked if any prosecutors from the Department's Public Integrity Section are working on the case, she refused to answer.<sup>20</sup>

In previous investigations, the Department of Justice has been willing to state which of its divisions and sections had attorneys working on a particular case.<sup>21</sup> Because there is no indication that Justice Department has provided any resources relating to the other legal issues surrounding Secretary Clinton's private email server, and in light of the Attorney General's statements about the scope of the investigation, as well as the report claiming the Justice Department made an agreement with Ms. Mills' attorney to preclude the FBI from asking her about the sorting and deletion of email, it appears that the Justice Department might be improperly limiting the scope of the FBI's investigation. Viewed within the context of the Department's appearance of a conflict of interest in this case, this raises the question of whether a Special Counsel is in fact needed.

One news report has even gone so far as to claim, without naming its sources, that FBI "agents have been spreading the word, largely through associates in the private sector, that their boss is getting stonewalled [by Obama political appointees], despite uncovering compelling evidence that Clinton broke the law."<sup>22</sup> The article further claimed that "FBI sources say [Director Comey] has no backing from President Obama and Attorney General Loretta Lynch to recommend charges against the former secretary[.]"<sup>23</sup> While this report may or may not be accurate, it is understandable that the public's confidence in the integrity and independence of any prosecutorial decision is in question, given the appearance of a conflict of interest by the political appointees in charge of that process. This is precisely the type of situation a Special Counsel appointment is designed to address.

You have experience in these issues not only from the perspective of the FBI, but also from the perspective of the Justice Department, and specifically in the context of investigations of senior administration officials. While you were serving as the Deputy Attorney General during the George W. Bush administration, Attorney General Ashcroft recused himself from the investigation regarding the Valerie Plame leak, due to the appearance of a conflict of interest he had as a result of past professional associations with one of the suspects, which then made you the Acting Attorney General for that case. In that case, there was substantial public concern about whether an investigation of administration officials that was being conducted under the oversight of the administration's political appointees would be fair and impartial. Upon being designated Acting Attorney General, you removed the case from the usual Justice Department chain of command and appointed a special prosecutor,

<sup>20</sup> Supra n. 8. This is additionally troubling because prior Department of Justice guidance on "Election Year Sensitivities" states if prosecutors "are faced with a question regarding the timing of charges or overt investigative steps near the time of a primary or general election, please contact the Public Integrity Section of the Criminal Division for further guidance." Election Year Sensitivities, THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, Mar. 9, 2012. Available at <https://www.justice.gov/sites/default/files/oip/legacy/2014/07/23/ag-memo-election-year-sensitivities.pdf>

<sup>21</sup> For example, in the investigation into the IRS's targeting of conservative groups, the Justice Department acknowledged while the investigation was ongoing that it had assigned attorneys from both its Criminal Division and Civil Rights Division.

Patrick Fitzgerald, to handle the matter.<sup>24</sup> Mr. Fitzgerald subsequently brought an indictment against the Vice President's Chief of Staff, Scooter Libby, who was later convicted. Accordingly, it appears that based on your relevant experience you are uniquely suited to weigh in on whether a Special Counsel is needed in the current case.

In order for the Committee to evaluate the issues surrounding the investigation stemming from Secretary Clinton's use of a non-government server and email address for her official business, and related issues, please answer the following:

1. In general, under what circumstances do you believe that the FBI would need to work with a Special Counsel from outside of the Justice Department in order to properly conduct an investigation? Please describe in detail.
2. In general, if you believed that the Department of Justice, pursuant to the regulations, had a conflict of interest in a particular investigation, would you express this view, and if so, how?
  - a. Would you make a request to the Justice Department for a Special Counsel? If not, why not?
  - b. If you were to make a request, but the request were denied by the Justice Department, would you notify this Committee, which has oversight authority over these matters? If not, why not?
3. Do you believe that a Special Counsel is warranted in the investigation stemming from Secretary Clinton's use of a non-government server and email address for her official State Department business? If not, why not, and what is different about the current extraordinary circumstances that causes you to reach a different conclusion than you did in the Valerie Plame matter?
4. Has the FBI requested or otherwise indicated to the Justice Department or other administration officials that it believes a Special Counsel should be appointed in this case? If so, what was the response?
5. Has the Justice Department limited the scope of the FBI's investigation in any way or denied it any resources?
6. Is the FBI aware of any agreements Justice Department officials have made with Secretary Clinton or her associates to deem certain areas of inquiry "off limits" in interviews with the FBI? If so, was the FBI consulted about such narrowing of topics?

<sup>24</sup> While you did not rely on 28 C.F.R. § 600.1 to appoint Mr. Fitzgerald, you did explain the interaction between that regulation and his appointment during the press conference in which you announced your decision. See <http://www.c-span.org/video/?179743-1/special-prosecutor-appointment>

Did the Justice Department officials make these agreements over the objection of the FBI?

7. Has the FBI requested that a grand jury be empaneled in connection with this investigation? If so, did the Department of Justice deny that request?
8. Has the Justice Department assigned prosecutors to the investigation from its Public Integrity Section, who have relevant experience in public corruption laws, or assigned prosecutors with experience in the laws pertaining to the destruction of federal records? If not, has the Justice Department explained to the FBI why it has not?

Please provide your answers by May 31, 2016. Thank you for your attention to this important matter. If you have any questions, please contact Patrick Davis of my Committee Staff at (202) 224-5225.

SENSITIVE INVESTIGATIVE MATTER (SIM)Synopsis: (U//~~FOUO~~) Documents an analysis of e-mail communications between hdr22@clintonemail.com and huma@clintonemail.com.~~Classified By: F22M62K21~~
~~Derived From: FBI-NSIC dated 20130301~~
~~Declassify On: 20411231~~References:*Details: (U//~~FOUO~~) The instant communication documents an analysis conducted by the author regarding the Department of State (DoS) tenure e-mail correspondence between the personal accounts of HILLARY CLINTON (hdr22@clintonemail.com) and HUMA ABEDIN (huma@clintonemail.com). The author analyzed e-mail correspondence across various datasets acquired by the FBI during the course of its investigation. Ultimately, the author identified approximately 1,539 direct e-mails between hdr22@clintonemail.com and huma@clintonemail.com (i.e., no other email address was party to the e-mail communication) which were not provided to DoS by CLINTON in December 2014, but were assessed by the FBI to be work-related.(U//~~FOUO~~) Analysis of the e-mails provided to DoS by CLINTON in December 2014 indicated huma@clintonemail.com was party to 2,598 total emails in the dataset. However, of the 2,598 emails, only 32 were direct communications exclusively between~~SECRET~~

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

huma@clintonemail.com and hdr22@clintonemail.com. The author determined each of the 32 e-mails contained references to either "Benghazi," "Libya" or "Tripoli." Consequently, the 32 e-mails possibly were provided to DoS because they hit on those search terms, rather than a search of huma@clintonemail.com. As a result, the process used by CLINTON's legal team to determine which of CLINTON's DoS tenure emails were work-related was possibly flawed in its handling of email correspondence between CLINTON and ABEDIN's huma@clintonemail.com address.

(U//~~FOUO~~) A summary communication detailing the findings of the analysis described above is attached to this electronic communication as a 1A.

(U) Analyst notes:

- (U//~~FOUO~~) The investigation assessed e-mails to be work-related if they were related to CLINTON's official capacity at DoS (e.g., scheduling, travel, call sheets, personnel appointments).
- (U//~~FOUO~~) During the course of its investigation, the FBI did not evaluate all recovered e-mails to determine which were work-related and which were personal. As a result, the analysis detailed in this communication does not represent the entirety of the work-related e-mails recovered by the FBI. Rather, the analysis detailed in this communication only focused on explicit direct communications between huma@clintonemail.com and hdr22@clintonemail.com in a subset of the datasets acquired by the FBI.
- (U//~~FOUO~~) Due to insufficient e-mail metadata associated with the datasets, ABEDIN's name often appeared in lieu of a specific email address. Despite indications this occurred with regard to huma@clintonemail.com e-mail communications, the author omitted these e-mails from the analysis because explicit e-mail address attribution could not be made.
- (U//~~FOUO~~) To ensure the 1,539 emails were not contained in the original 30,524 e-mail dataset provided to the FBI, the author used Internet Message IDs to identify duplicates.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

However, the metadata associated with some e-mail messages was incomplete, and thus, the author utilized date/time stamps and subject lines to remove additional duplicates when Internet Message IDs were unavailable.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of transcription 08/25/2015

(U//~~FOUO~~) On August 25, 2015, at approximately 10:10 AM, Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Special Agent (SA) [REDACTED] of the Washington Field Office met Katherine M. TURNER and [REDACTED] at the loading dock of the building that houses the offices of WILLIAMS & CONNOLLY LLP, located at 725 12th St NW, Washington, DC 20005.

b6
b7C

(U//~~FOUO~~) TURNER was further identified as a partner at WILLIAMS & CONNOLLY LLP. [REDACTED] was further identified as an attorney at PAUL, WEISS, RIFKIND, WHARTON & GARRISON LLP. [REDACTED] also provided his business card which has been placed in the attached 1A envelope.

b6
b7C

(U//~~FOUO~~) TURNER & [REDACTED] turned over six (6) boxes. Contained in the six (6) boxes were four (4) boxes of paper documents, six (6) laptop computers, two (2) USB flash drive devices, and miscellaneous power adapters for the laptops. The items, including make, model and serial numbers, are further described in the FD-597 Receipt for Property and Consent to Store Computer(s) documentation in the attached 1A envelope.

b6
b7C

(U//~~FOUO~~) At the time the items were taken into FBI custody, TURNER advised SA [REDACTED] that two of the laptops had flash drives currently inserted in them. The flash drives had not previously been removed by TURNER or anyone else because they were "coupled" with the computer (nfi).

b6
b7C

(U//~~FOUO~~) The items were transported directly to the FBI's Washington Field Office and submitted into the Evidence Control Center (ECC). At the time the items were turned in, SA [REDACTED] removed the USB devices from the laptop in which they were inserted in order to account for the evidentiary items individually. The USB flash drive labeled "HC Prime2" was removed from the following laptop: LENOVO type 4236-VQ5 bearing serial number: [REDACTED] The 16 GB Lexar USB flash drive was removed from the following laptop" LENOVO type 4236-VQ5 bearing serial number: [REDACTED]

- Worked for WJC - 15/16 years - to be foundation. Technology evolved.

- In 2007, thought about a small group having a separate email server. Explored.

Contracted with Apple computer to set-up a server. Hard disk was at WJC residence in Chgs. June 08 - online - finished for bar 7 months.

Not robust enough. Problems with blackberries. What other options?

HRC was also looking to go at BlackBerry to something else. She joined apple server. Discussions started with Bryan Pytlarz. Good opportunity to upgrade systems. Bryan took full control of setting up. Set-up Windows server box - BlackBerry email server. Yes there were other boxes.

He had firewalls, spam filters on ASA. And, he had back-up drives.

Bryan managed changing, went from Apple to Microsoft.

Early 09, blackberries were sync'd with Apple. - routing through att. BlackBerry.

- Both servers were used for nothing but email.

- From Pennsylvania to Chgs in 08/09. Bryan built all re-built transferred over.

- Customer service face (was) I could add a user, security policy, change password.

- At some point - Bryan setting that I could block an IP.

- 1st IP and I were admin on server.

- Managed finances. Did anything registered or paid for.
  - BP and I registered and renewed.
- Went to Network Solutions, GoDaddy, Perfect Privacy. (Read article)
  - read about PP online.
- NS - Ryan or Apple told us to.
- Users - security policy - Few users. Normal course of business, "I put this weird email." I provided no official security. If someone sent something - I would forward to Brian. We would know around someone is trying to hack it. Anti-spam - That's why we got IP blocking.
- BFA - Bank from Attack.
- Avenues of connectivity - refer to Brian "locked down." People would hit the server with user names and passwords.
- Didn't look at web chat on their computer, 105 forever eventually.
- vaguely recall we had a Microsoft product called FOREFRONT.
  - Never went to an outside screening or open source.
- Very little about decommissioning - early 2013 - CM and BP in discussions about what next. I was phasing out. Outreach to different companies - went with Plectus Ring - I know nothing about location. I did talk to PR about turning our user names, accounts. PR in 5/13 or 8/13 - had access to server at the house. 7/13 - I had instructions to go to new server. 11/13 - old server.

Project Manager

- Didn't change this one.

- Rental Car to CHPQ, pick-up server straight to data-center. - just me. Jan 2013

- Servers BD, Dijmar email server. They had a switch, firewalls.

- No back-up to my knowledge. Can't recall NAS.

packed everything up. Powered it down - took it out.

- Plugged in - single - limited cords. Didn't try to get it on-line.

- Then we started incorporating the new. Didn't recall it equipment was there yet or if I already set-up. 2 or 3 days.

- So - existed - then for migration.

- 3/2015 - Two or three times with Cheryl Mills. talked or communicated with.

- USB drive that was never plugged in in CHPQ we took with and never plugged in.

- NAS - never used.

Nothing, everything good.

- Client asked - is state of gear. We looked at server, NAS, USB drive was part of that - portable - nothing on it. Never used.

- Directive was go find. There was no if, then. Just audit.

- Also wanted to tighten security. Standard protocol - very secure.

After news, tightened by PRN - not asked to.

Initial discussions about security - devices, firewalls.

handled devices. Don't recall. Maybe a handful of tickets.

b6
b7c

- Cloud jacket - No IP attacks that stood out more than normal.

I still believe loose gear in. All were alerts - blocking IP, not big issue. Not more than normal.

- Never saw a malware or phishing email. Not that I recall.

- 8/2015 - Powered on for ten minutes - to see what was on it, removed Magic UD software (firmware). Not Client requested. Plugged a monitor - see what's there - nothing.

Back-up

- DATO device - was the back-up system. [ ] I plugged it in. b6 b7c
- WAS - not being used.
- Don't know why I always traveled. He worked remotely. We were the only two. He had [ ] - I didn't. I volunteered. I don't know why, it was only us two. We're not experienced.
- Never heard client discuss classified information.
- Never told me to delete, destroy anything. Just asked to look on the old servers and see what's there.
- PRN never removed, they never requested to remove or delete.
- We don't see what over does - they do whatever they want.

1A18

- One server out of house - Windows Server -

- Blue Sheet

- Never seen in house or eqiix - all [redacted]

NAS - no information on it - brought it along

Didn't take switch or firewall. was going to provide. PRN.

- DES - Separate physical server - They had a Comcast interface.

We bought new hardware because it was 4-5 yrs old. Port our migratory from Exchange 2007 to Exchange 2010. We were going to add a new server regardless.

They probably had a UPS, but we didn't bring it.

They had Forefront or Symantec - No Symantec patch that I know of.

[redacted] provided remote access for observing / look around.

- Logged in - saw configuration - standard. don't recall - a host exclusively for email - no file, print.

b6
b7c

- no one else that I know of had remote / admin

- They had 20/30 users at the time - added 5-6 users after

- They had chilkat.com, presidat@chilkatmail.com, 0j@office.com

- we added [redacted] later on now

↳ legacy

no longer activelyused that.

[redacted] took it off at data center. Once our stuff was in place

[redacted] takes UPS to Equinix - sets up.

- changes MX record - changes email servers to talk to since IP address changed. MX scrubs out viruses, spam. We added that. No archiving at MX logic <sup>logic</sup> doesn't reside there. We provided new firewalls, now switches / think later on provided UPS.

- also provided new physical server, new exchange server, new domain controller for passwords and management virtual machine.

- both were running at the same time at old server for a week or two

- We also hate OATTO - multiple daily tanks of all servers.
bit rid of gateway and added TREND then web root. 60 days
- Client didn't want virtual - OATTO and mistake.
- They had standard set-up - we did standard set-up. We did 2 firewalls
- got 2 switches for redundancy in case fail - we didn't want to pay or drive out.
- Cloud jacket sits in front of between ISP and firewall for malicious traffic. - Been catching lots. Automatic blocking. Can also pre-emptively block.
- We brought NAS and plugged it in. Didn't look like anything was on it just install files. We brought and plugged it in - not utilized
- DES communication on their hardware for a week or two.
- Still in rack with lights off.
- Once we migrated - old email server was on we decided to keep it on for a few months - not processing email.
- People had phones, outlook synced to server.
- Migration end of June - decided by client - least impacted on email down time for transfer. Only half day. Operating on old server for a week or two. - Then moved mailboxes.
- Two servers worked together in no save exchange while migrating over a couple of days. Old server feeds to new - servers agree copied are identical.
- Everything was moved from old server to new. Can't do a picrement. Every thing goes.
- Doug Davis was old user that needed to be purged.
- Shared OATTO email - diversity, local failure. OATTO is for that.

always been 60 - I think [ ] is misprinting. Not involved with Back-ups.

b6
b7c

- DATA is separate box (server)
- Two servers out of the house, cloud jacket, DATA 1950, 2900
- SLA - request to encrypt email. Didn't do it. - They have a certificate that admin can move mailboxes, passwords, sometimes we view for archive <sup>encryps.</sup> ~~starches~~ user would forward us via email. - due a remote control service <sup>by</sup> ~~they~~ <sup>try</sup> ~~try~~ <sup>to</sup> ~~to~~ <sup>not</sup> ~~not~~ <sup>have</sup> ~~have~~.
all accounts have some back-up policies - takes snapshot in its entirety
DATA. up to 60 days
- users can archive locally - make posts - on laptop or whatever. Server presents email - user can do whatever they want.
- 12 - decommission exchange - felt confident everything had been moved
, if we just shut off other servers affected. On 4/1/10, not in use.
remote access admin - myself  b6
b7c
No other admin accounts could use - no one else as of now & Eg. this - admin by my self
- 12 decommission routine maintenance - no other function performed by server. <sup>changed</sup> Client didn't know. Alert if server goes off.
- Client never requested any support. Level platforms or Mongrel Workflows -
- 3rd party doing help desk - couldn't log in - only do basic - check settings, etc.
- In beginning we had that service - two or three times that they used
- They would just call me. instead of main switch board. Not sure if service was discontinued / won't say.
- old server.
- We fired it up once more to verify there was nothing on it. off for a year at least. Client requested we check it. March.

- Mailbox moves process to new server. More of a sync. Once servers agree - then mail is removed. Old logged through December - no new data.
- Email off, in June/July 2017 due to sync. event
- HRC archive mail box. - They had a notebook that had old email ~~not~~ on servers.
  - They stopped no longer - I imported email to server. Email was 2009 through 2014. - Sub-folders with a year. Communication was with a ?Marissa?
  - All stored in folders. Could be multiple accounts. They said it was Hillary's email. Separate mailbox. Has its own log-in. Asked to give Hillary access at one or two assistants. Didn't remember.
  - all traffic through https - mobile, outlook, browser.
  - HRC archive is a container with email - doesn't need to be tied to account.
    - tied a .local address - not receiving a storage folder.

7/14 - Miller - They wanted email export. I was going to burn encrypted DVDs.
didn't happen. pt AES256

9/14 - I exported her email - zipped in encrypted archive - transferred about. to Cheryl and Heather - SFTP site to transfer file - PST also had a password. SFTP site on server. Remote control session with both of them - transferred to them. Originally an email sent to/fwd to
.gov. Then they said entire mailbox. 2 sessions. Remote.

- Not HRC Archive - all her email - her mailbox - not neither what account - it's changed. They gave me an end date cut-off of Jan/Feb 2013. Stated when she ended SoS at gave me date.

12/2014 - Move to hrcoffice.com - Move her <sup>HRC</sup> mail to server we don't manage. In contact with   Forwarded email to HRC office.com. Someone broken into domain. Don't know who managed. Can either copy or just forward on our server.

b6
b7c

One session with Hnac to sync PRC server to new

Not aware of date on new server. I wouldn't know anything about it.

- Ry can bring their email to that server in a variety of ways but I'm not aware of anything on the new server. Ry can have device push it to server.

- 3/15 - Ry wanted to make sure what was on old MS server at NAS.

- HRC archive - connection from Macbook - no additional disk tiers on Macbook.

- 60 day on DATTO - server snapshot - purge.

- 0-10k settings - ~~60 day retention on HRC archive box~~ -  search out about a <sup>b6</sup> end user can do whatever they want. <sup>never did.</sup>  blanket policy. <sup>b7c</sup> <sup>never rolled it out.</sup>

- 8/2015 - related to DATTO how did it happen?

Uninstall exchange

- click on uninstall - does checks to ensure no files in live system. Ensures no active mailboxes, etc.

PRN never took steps, nor were reported, from the server side, to purge/delete EDB file? No. File represents entire.

IP addresses used - internet service Eq-nix - no control. Give you public IP.

- Ry gave static - stages the same - firewall rules if not

- USER ACCOUNT sheet

- a number of user addition /deletions. Recognize names but can't give full name.

CES users - within last couple months

Devices - not sure how sheet populated

- it uses Microsoft active sync set-up without us. As long as Ry has mailbox

- never involved with older style blackberry - we don't know <sup>or password.</sup> D.E.S.

- no security policy to connect to our server

Back-ups

- DATA - 60 Day
- Nothing with exchange server.
- NAS - had random files, not back-up data. Plugged in, not configured.

3rd Party

Equinix - Provides internet or maybe contracted ISP

Intergrate - just facilitated relationships

Concert Business - Concast line at house in Chaff.

brite lights - ISP at Equinix

Another { Windstream - Not with CESL of all unrelated } Allwork - phone system to servers { Soptrix -

b6
b7c

AVG - Manage Helpdesk - Level Platforms - bought or bought by AVG.

MacAfee - MX Logic / Intel - No archiving - No backup. Filtering SPAM

SECNAP - Flood jacket distributes.

Techno rescue - Never used

Ingram Micro - Trend anti-virus then

Vecam - back-up software - never used (just DATA)

Alert logic - awareness technology never used

AT - never used

TM - anti-virus solution

- Migration - select mailboxes - right click move - server talk - not dealing in pts.
- just mailboxes - no log files moved.

CESC-PRN- virtual m

CESC-PRN2- don't know - management box we started to set up. Doesn't exist.

EXCH01- virtual m

DC01- virtual m

DATA0- box

MD server - Help desk - software on Mac

NAS - just one - two internal addresses.

FD-B - firewall

FW-A - firewall

Client DD-

CESC

- Fileshare - we wanted documentation to not be accessible to anyone

[redacted] - Dijen set up - lived on Mac - probably X11 on server.

b6
b7c

CESC workstation - don't know.

User server full redundancy - No.

BES - running - virtualized - still people on old blackberries.

- No discussions of classified data or federal retention of records.

- IP's - h. Hwy network - from Cloud jacket - say attempt to gain access could've been on a Heft - but nothing out of the ordinary. We don't have to do anything. Cloud jacket never directed action on server. Just notification.

Tightened firewall rules - request from client. Standard - around time of press release.

[redacted] - fast response to personal email at plattersm to make sure it would come through.

b6
b7c

For client

- Requested old back-ups to copy with 60 day lag. Don't know when probably March 2015.
- Registering SSL - 1 set - p. registered - Organ gave credentials for Network Solutions where their domains are registered.
- Back-up - blue sheet - virtual discs? You can share storage - certain amount of use spec - off blackberry server.
- NAS - serving a function at some point (unclear) - not told to make sure it could still boot. We could ask determin to throw out but no decision to. <sup>so flagged it in</sup>
- make sure account was fully provisioned for Hierachie - test enc.
- Turned server on that day - wanted to ensure no back-up update on NAS or server.

We work with a client that [redacted] has brought us opportunities. We didn't know who. Used to be a public official. Found 3 in Spring of 2013.

- We know who we became. [redacted] 3.

Technical team - to deliver

- Went out to hire to Equinity - migrated their database.

- certain back-ups, support, now user, user leaving.

My general role with client - My role is not involved. General direction of business. Don't get involved technically. Problem I met with customer.

March - They wanted to know technically what they had become. My didn't know. [redacted] understood. Answered. Was there for [redacted]

Information - Potentially prior to a hire. Issues. Power or Information. Since we took over - Don't think so.

Back-ups - to advance in age - snapshot server. 60 days. See back-up solution for the majority of our clients. Not from discussions / [redacted] did they request something specific.

- No classified or federal records retained.

- We limited what people. Something we did because we didn't want people knocking on our door. Exposure.

- Client never asked for admin rights or physical access.

No specific knowledge of greater details or requests for server migration.

DATA - never had back-ups in the cage - purges after 60 days.

Some contact when we first signed it.

[redacted] will discuss about DES. Just a mechanism.

Still a client - normal service. - Still pull for support.

[redacted] on site 2 or 3 times. [redacted] remote.

The attached spreadsheet (2 tabs) contains [REDACTED] that we want the [REDACTED] analyst to start querying. This is just an initial collection from the data sets we've reviewed so far. As we identify new [REDACTED] we can provide additional data to query. Ideally, assuming this would be part of their normal work process, we'd like the analyst to produce a report to document the results of their searches.

We would also like to have the data run through [REDACTED] if you think it may produce different/additional results (I think [REDACTED] mentioned this in the last meeting), so we should discuss who would handle this.

[REDACTED] we'd also like to have IAU provide input from your analysis for [REDACTED] that should be run in [REDACTED]. If possible, we'd like to send this data to the [REDACTED] analyst on a "per media" basis. We'll need to figure out who would handle this (i.e., should this all feed through CYD so there's one point of contact?).

Let's discuss the items above during today's 2pm call so we can determine how to coordinate the efforts.

Thanks,

DATO.

- local - we don't ship w/ the BaaS password. Check to make sure not log in.
  - tech help with that.
- PR partner for a while - # of field devices. Didn't know the model. Reached out for model. Established relationship.
  - we don't purposefully isolate ourselves from clients.
- - My 2017 order. - local signed up for. PRN requested private cloud option. Mucky. private cloud & the tree could still locally storage. Private cloud is storage node local.
  - Signed up for private - never got node. - how it ended up a public..
  - Default is absence of private node - to DATO cloud. - since been changed.
  - In 2013, not standard option - PRN passed to DATO cloud.
    - 1st tree PRN went to private cloud option - no node.
  - Don't know default back-up in 2013. PRN set a 1a-1a-
    - local - can't speak to. - device itself. Tree stays on device.
    - offsite - log of is retention schedule. retaining tree & fat-fault.
      - & deleted - be-referenced.
    - offsite - storage limits - what you ordered.

Check ground:

b6
b7c

DATO.

PRN 2000 - initial set-up to not have encryption - that came out in Dec 2013.

- 8/13/2015 - shipped encrypted DATO to PRN.
- pipe is encrypted SSH <sup>to change</sup> - nodes can't communicate with each other.
- command and control - is encrypted.

19867 - Search of verification problem. Long pend. window for verification.

99062 - Virtualization problem - changed driver & controller of Vadoos accepted it.

- FAILURES VERY COMMON - Normal amount.

- No retention 2013/2014 - with DATA. Think of.

4. Customer portal - successfully took back-up - successfully verified bootable screenshot.
- reflects back-up taken - local - not anything offsite.
- screenshot faulty - changed RAM settings.

5.

b. - Manual - Partner went in clicked delete. Just cleanly unmounted file.
- It reported to partner, ticket is created.

Retention - snapshots removed by virtual of retention policy. Abstract.
Program off.

- Sense is tech sent retention wrong. Data is deleted.
- Local device - to delete partner portal.
- A blank view.

-  - machine correctly formatted. local host connecting

-  - DATA relay server handling this connection.

- Not possible to deduce remote or local.

- Delete cloud, delete local. - Not sure why we had that in March.

- If you go from 60 to 30 you may need to prove. Actual retention aligned to hypers policy.

b4

- offsite - partially encrypted & not remotely would have to have expectation.
  - ↳ physically, you'd be able to do it. if you got access.
- full encryption isn't used because of size and optimization.
  - ↳ 2x is faster if you go that way.
- Access to cloud and local.  delete data.
  - March 31, 2015 - admin pattern is odd.
- PRN had one log-in - didn't know who exactly.
  - SIRIS 2000 - stepped don't know. 2 SIRIS 2000.
- Hosted in Pennsylvania data storage. Multiple levels under ground.
  - Properties. Security. Pages are locked.
- Multiple drives synced to a node. Very segmented with device it's paired with. Only device able to write to a trajectory.
  - 36 drives - 2 pools/s - unified data storage.
- Cloud frequently scanned from all over the world. I have no knowledge of deep penetration. Best place to look for is system logs.
- No federal records discussion. No classified discussions.
- No retention of 10, 60 - 90 conversations.
- Invoices to PRN.

9/13 - 97416 - After image wouldn't work. Do virtualize - take picture of screen and send to partner. More than likely - back-up is fine - automatic fast boot failed. Verification failure.

All product of moving to virtualization - requires finesse.

That number goes down b/c always responding at.

96649 - Agent on server had problem with incremental back-up and it was solved with bare/total back-up.

1.) Email from Hutton. - Private -

- Explain to use new rate.

- Appears to be referring to a cloud. "You should have no cloud."

- PRN says that date etc.

- refers to new device - exception. SICUS 2000. After lawyer involvement
No invoice - PR - DATED skip.

- DATED That's it you know. Preservation of Encrytio / Confidential

- Though

PIAS - local doesn't ship with PIAS

- done maybe got around.

- log-in prompt - not misspeaking.

[redacted] contacted [redacted] in early 2013 about project.

[redacted] stated client needs new email server. Put in contact w/ CM. [redacted] worked w/ CM to [redacted] produce proposal + BP on requirements.

Started discussion w/ range of options (gmail to private server) <sup>and security</sup>

Understood [redacted] to be reliability/uptime in wake of [redacted] wk downtime (Sony)

Provided a variety of options from cheapest to most sophisticated. Knew server located in house

Backup planned for "phase 2", but [redacted] was not retained/moved for that.

No knowledge of server prior to BP server

Aware of domain, # of email accounts

Client picked from options

Existing relationship w/ Gravitas + PRN

PRN - many years ago looking for provider in CO because of Boulder-based Client Client decided wanted small boutique - decided PRN to go with PRN est. relationship

Talked to Cheryl, Bryan [redacted] [redacted] (believes was carious)

Possibly some other "tactical" people for moving paperwork

BP - technical; CM - strategic, [redacted] carious
